1. As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.
2. The mean and median statistics covering FY1989 through FY2006 are based upon the per capita values for 95 counties and 39 cities (excluding South Boston and Clifton Forge, which reverted to town status on July 1st of 1995 and 2001, respectively). With regard to the FY1996-2006 interval, the computations reflect South Boston as a component of Halifax County. The FY2002-2006 statistics take cognizance of Clifton Forge as a subdivision of Allegheny County.

1. As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.
2. The mean and median statistics covering FY1989 through FY2006 are based upon the per capita values for 95 counties and 39 cities (excluding South Boston and Clifton Forge, which reverted to town status on July 1st of 1995 and 2001, respectively). With regard to the FY1996-2006 interval, the computations reflect South Boston as a component of Halifax County. The FY2002-2006 statistics take cognizance of Clifton Forge as a subdivision of Allegheny County.

1. As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.
2. The mean and median statistics covering FY1989 through FY2006 are based upon the per capita values for 95 counties and 39 cities (excluding South Boston and Clifton Forge, which reverted to town status on July 1st of 1995 and 2001, respectively). With regard to the FY1996-2006 interval, the computations reflect South Boston as a component of Halifax County. The FY2002-2006 statistics take cognizance of Clifton Forge as a subdivision of Allegheny County.

1. As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.
2. The mean and median statistics covering FY1989 through FY2006 are based upon the per capita values for 95 counties and 39 cities (excluding South Boston and Clifton Forge, which reverted to town status on July 1st of 1995 and 2001, respectively). With regard to the FY1996-2006 interval, the computations reflect South Boston as a component of Halifax County. The FY2002-2006 statistics take cognizance of Clifton Forge as a subdivision of Allegheny County.

1. As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.
2. The mean and median statistics covering FY1989 through FY2006 are based upon the per capita values for 95 counties and 39 cities (excluding South Boston and Clifton Forge, which reverted to town status on July 1st of 1995 and 2001, respectively). With regard to the FY1996-2006 interval, the computations reflect South Boston as a component of Halifax County. The FY2002-2006 statistics take cognizance of Clifton Forge as a subdivision of Allegheny County.

1. As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2. The mean and median statistics covering FY1989 through FY2006 are based upon the percentages for 95 counties and 39 cities (excluding South Boston and Clifton Forge, which reverted to town status on July 1st of 1995 and 2001, respectively). With regard to the FY1996-2006 interval, the computations reflect South Boston as a component of Halifax County. The FY2002-2006 statistics take cognizance of Clifton Forge as a subdivision of Alleghany County.

1. As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2. The mean and median statistics covering FY1989 through FY2006 are based upon the percentages for 95 counties and 39 cities (excluding South Boston and Clifton Forge, which reverted to town status on July 1st of 1995 and 2001, respectively). With regard to the FY1996-2006 interval, the computations reflect South Boston as a component of Halifax County. The FY2002-2006 statistics take cognizance of Clifton Forge as a subdivision of Allegheny County.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

The rank score of a given locality may vary from 1 (highest per capita amount) to 136 (lowest per capita amount).

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

3

The rank score of a given locality may vary from 1 (highest per capita amount) to 136 (lowest per capita amount).

4

The highest and lowest per capita values in the statewide distribution are ranked 1 and 135, respectively.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

South Boston City and Clifton Forge City reverted to town status on July 1st of 1995 and 2001, respectively. Therefore, the Halifax County profile relative to the FY2001-2006 interval captures the revenue and population effects of South Boston's municipal reclassification; and the Alleghany County statistics covering FY2002-2006 reflect the fiscal and demographic implications of the Clifton Forge reversion.

3

The rank score of a given locality may vary from 1 (highest per capita amount) to 135 (lowest per capita amount).

4

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

The rank score of a given locality may vary from 1 (highest per capita amount) to 136 (lowest per capita amount).

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

3

The rank score of a given locality may vary from 1 (highest per capita amount) to 136 (lowest per capita amount).

4

The highest and lowest per capita values in the statewide distribution are ranked 1 and 135, respectively.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

South Boston City and Clifton Forge City reverted to town status on July 1st of 1995 and 2001, respectively. Therefore, the Halifax County profile relative to the FY2001-2006 interval captures the revenue and population effects of South Boston's municipal reclassification; and the Alleghany County statistics covering FY2002-2006 reflect the fiscal and demographic implications of the Clifton Forge reversion.

3

The rank score of a given locality may vary from 1 (highest per capita amount) to 135 (lowest per capita amount).

4

The highest and lowest per capita values in the statewide distribution are ranked 1 and 134, respectively.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

The rank score of a given locality may vary from 1 (highest per capita amount) to 136 (lowest per capita amount).

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

3

The rank score of a given locality may vary from 1 (highest per capita amount) to 136 (lowest per capita amount).

4

The highest and lowest per capita values in the statewide distribution are ranked 1 and 135, respectively.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

South Boston City and Clifton Forge City reverted to town status on July 1st of 1995 and 2001, respectively. Therefore, the Halifax County profile relative to the FY2001-2006 interval captures the revenue and population effects of South Boston's municipal reclassification; and the Alleghany County statistics covering FY2002-2006 reflect the fiscal and demographic implications of the Clifton Forge reversion.

3

The rank score of a given locality may vary from 1 (highest per capita amount) to 135 (lowest per capita amount).

4

The highest and lowest per capita values in the statewide distribution are ranked 1 and 134, respectively.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

The rank score of a given locality varies from 1 (highest per capita amount) to 136 (lowest per capita amount) only if tied computations do not appear at the bottom of the measurement range.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

3

The rank score of a given locality varies from 1 (highest per capita amount) to 136 (lowest per capita amount) only if tied computations do not appear at the bottom of the measurement range.

4

The highest and lowest per capita values in the statewide distribution will carry rankings of 1 and 135, respectively, unless tied statistics are clustered at the base of the computational scale.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

South Boston City and Clifton Forge City reverted to town status on July 1st of 1995 and 2001, respectively. Therefore, the Halifax County profile relative to the FY2001-2006 interval captures the revenue and population effects of South Boston's municipal reclassification; and the Alleghany County statistics covering FY2002-2006 reflect the fiscal and demographic implications of the Clifton Forge reversion.

3

The rank score of a given locality varies from 1 (highest per capita amount) to 135 (lowest per capita amount) only if tied computations do not appear at the bottom of the measurement range.

4

The highest and lowest per capita values in the statewide distribution will carry rankings of 1 and 134, respectively, unless tied statistics are clustered at the base of the computational scale.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

The rank score of a given locality may vary from 1 (highest per capita amount) to 136 (lowest per capita amount).

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

3

The rank score of a given locality may vary from 1 (highest per capita amount) to 136 (lowest per capita amount).

4

The highest and lowest per capita values in the statewide distribution are ranked 1 and 135, respectively.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

South Boston City and Clifton Forge City reverted to town status on July 1st of 1995 and 2001, respectively. Therefore, the Halifax County profile relative to the FY2001-2006 interval captures the revenue and population effects of South Boston's municipal reclassification; and the Alleghany County statistics covering FY2002-2006 reflect the fiscal and demographic implications of the Clifton Forge reversion.

3

The rank score of a given locality may vary from 1 (highest per capita amount) to 135 (lowest per capita amount).

4

The highest and lowest per capita values in the statewide distribution are ranked 1 and 134, respectively.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

The rank score of a given locality varies from 1 (highest per capita amount) to 136 (lowest per capita amount) only if tied computations do not appear at the bottom of the measurement range.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

3

The rank score of a given locality varies from 1 (highest per capita amount) to 136 (lowest per capita amount) only if tied computations do not appear at the bottom of the measurement range.

4

The highest and lowest per capita values in the statewide distribution will carry rankings of 1 and 135, respectively, unless tied statistics are clustered at the base of the computational scale.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

South Boston City and Clifton Forge City reverted to town status on July 1st of 1995 and 2001, respectively. Therefore, the Halifax County profile relative to the FY2001-2006 interval captures the revenue and population effects of South Boston's municipal reclassification; and the Alleghany County statistics covering FY2002-2006 reflect the fiscal and demographic implications of the Clifton Forge reversion.

3

The rank score of a given locality varies from 1 (highest per capita amount) to 135 (lowest per capita amount) only if tied computations do not appear at the bottom of the measurement range.

4

The highest and lowest per capita values in the statewide distribution will carry rankings of 1 and 134, respectively, unless tied statistics are clustered at the base of the computational scale.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

The rank score of a given locality varies from 1 (highest per capita amount) to 136 (lowest per capita amount) only if tied computations do not appear at the bottom of the measurement range.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

3

The rank score of a given locality varies from 1 (highest per capita amount) to 136 (lowest per capita amount) only if tied computations do not appear at the bottom of the measurement range.

4

The highest and lowest per capita values in the statewide distribution will carry rankings of 1 and 135, respectively, unless tied statistics are clustered at the base of the computational scale.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

South Boston City and Clifton Forge City reverted to town status on July 1st of 1995 and 2001, respectively. Therefore, the Halifax County profile relative to the FY2001-2006 interval captures the revenue and population effects of South Boston's municipal reclassification; and the Alleghany County statistics covering FY2002-2006 reflect the fiscal and demographic implications of the Clifton Forge reversion.

3

The rank score of a given locality varies from 1 (highest per capita amount) to 135 (lowest per capita amount) only if tied computations do not appear at the bottom of the measurement range.

4

The highest and lowest per capita values in the statewide distribution will carry rankings of 1 and 134, respectively, unless tied statistics are clustered at the base of the computational scale.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

The rank score of a given locality varies from 1 (highest per capita amount) to 136 (lowest per capita amount) only if tied computations do not appear at the bottom of the measurement range.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

3

The rank score of a given locality varies from 1 (highest per capita amount) to 136 (lowest per capita amount) only if tied computations do not appear at the bottom of the measurement range.

4

The highest and lowest per capita values in the statewide distribution will carry rankings of 1 and 135, respectively, unless tied statistics are clustered at the base of the computational scale.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

South Boston City and Clifton Forge City reverted to town status on July 1st of 1995 and 2001, respectively. Therefore, the Halifax County profile relative to the FY2001-2006 interval captures the revenue and population effects of South Boston's municipal reclassification; and the Alleghany County statistics covering FY2002-2006 reflect the fiscal and demographic implications of the Clifton Forge reversion.

3

The rank score of a given locality varies from 1 (highest per capita amount) to 135 (lowest per capita amount) only if tied computations do not appear at the bottom of the measurement range.

4

The highest and lowest per capita values in the statewide distribution will carry rankings of 1 and 134, respectively, unless tied statistics are clustered at the base of the computational scale.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

The rank score of a given locality may vary from 1 (highest per capita amount) to 136 (lowest per capita amount).

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

3

The rank score of a given locality may vary from 1 (highest per capita amount) to 136 (lowest per capita amount).

4

The highest and lowest per capita values in the statewide distribution are ranked 1 and 135, respectively.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

South Boston City and Clifton Forge City reverted to town status on July 1st of 1995 and 2001, respectively. Therefore, the Halifax County profile relative to the FY2001-2006 interval captures the revenue and population effects of South Boston's municipal reclassification; and the Alleghany County statistics covering FY2002-2006 reflect the fiscal and demographic implications of the Clifton Forge reversion.

3

The rank score of a given locality may vary from 1 (highest per capita amount) to 135 (lowest per capita amount).

4

The highest and lowest per capita values in the statewide distribution are ranked 1 and 134, respectively.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

The rank score of a given locality may vary from 1 (highest percentage) to 136 (lowest percentage).

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

South Boston City reverted to town status on July 1, 1995. Accordingly, with respect to the FY1996-2000 time span, the Halifax County profile captures the revenue effects of South Boston's municipal reclassification.

3

The rank score of a given locality may vary from 1 (highest percentage) to 136 (lowest percentage).

4

The highest and lowest percentages in the statewide distribution are ranked 1 and 135, respectively.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

South Boston City and Clifton Forge City reverted to town status on July 1st of 1995 and 2001, respectively. Therefore, the Halifax County profile relative to the FY2001-2006 interval captures the revenue effects of South Boston's municipal reclassification; and the Alleghany County statistics covering FY2002-2006 reflect the fiscal impact of the Clifton Forge reversion.

3

The rank score of a given locality may vary from 1 (highest percentage) to 135 (lowest percentage).

4

The highest and lowest percentages in the statewide distribution are ranked 1 and 134, respectively.

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

The rank score of a given locality may vary from 1 (highest percentage) to 136 (lowest percentage).

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

South Boston City reverted to town status on July 1, 1995. Accordingly, with respect to the FY1996-2000 time span, the Halifax County profile captures the revenue effects of South Boston's municipal reclassification.

3

The rank score of a given locality may vary from 1 (highest percentage) to 136 (lowest percentage).

4

The highest and lowest percentages in the statewide distribution are ranked 1 and 135, respectively.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

South Boston City and Clifton Forge City reverted to town status on July 1st of 1995 and 2001, respectively. Therefore, the Halifax County profile relative to the FY2001-2006 interval captures the revenue effects of South Boston's municipal reclassification; and the Alleghany County statistics covering FY2002-2006 reflect the fiscal impact of the Clifton Forge reversion.

3

The rank score of a given locality may vary from 1 (highest percentage) to 135 (lowest percentage).

4

The highest and lowest percentages in the statewide distribution are ranked 1 and 134, respectively.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

The rank score of a given locality may vary from 1 (highest percentage) to 136 (lowest percentage).

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

South Boston City reverted to town status on July 1, 1995. Accordingly, with respect to the FY1996-2000 time span, the Halifax County profile captures the revenue effects of South Boston's municipal reclassification.

3

The rank score of a given locality may vary from 1 (highest percentage) to 136 (lowest percentage).

4

The highest and lowest percentages in the statewide distribution are ranked 1 and 135, respectively.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

South Boston City and Clifton Forge City reverted to town status on July 1st of 1995 and 2001, respectively. Therefore, the Halifax County profile relative to the FY2001-2006 interval captures the revenue effects of South Boston's municipal reclassification; and the Alleghany County statistics covering FY2002-2006 reflect the fiscal impact of the Clifton Forge reversion.

3

The rank score of a given locality may vary from 1 (highest percentage) to 135 (lowest percentage).

4

The highest and lowest percentages in the statewide distribution are ranked 1 and 134, respectively.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

The rank score of a given locality varies from 1 (highest percentage) to 136 (lowest percentage) only if tied computations do not appear at the bottom of the measurement range.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

South Boston City reverted to town status on July 1, 1995. Accordingly, with respect to the FY1996-2000 time span, the Halifax County profile captures the revenue effects of South Boston's municipal reclassification.

3

The rank score of a given locality varies from 1 (highest percentage) to 136 (lowest percentage) only if tied computations do not appear at the bottom of the measurement range.

4

The highest and lowest percentages in the statewide distribution will carry rankings of 1 and 135, respectively, unless tied statistics are clustered at the base of the computational scale.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

South Boston City and Clifton Forge City reverted to town status on July 1st of 1995 and 2001, respectively. Therefore, the Halifax County profile relative to the FY2001-2006 interval captures the revenue effects of South Boston's municipal reclassification; and the Alleghany County statistics covering FY2002-2006 reflect the fiscal impact of the Clifton Forge reversion.

3

The rank score of a given locality varies from 1 (highest percentage) to 135 (lowest percentage) only if tied computations do not appear at the bottom of the measurement range.

4

The highest and lowest percentages in the statewide distribution will carry rankings of 1 and 134, respectively, unless tied statistics are clustered at the base of the computational scale.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

The rank score of a given locality may vary from 1 (highest percentage) to 136 (lowest percentage).

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

South Boston City and Clifton Forge City reverted to town status on July 1st of 1995 and 2001, respectively. Therefore, the Halifax County profile relative to the FY2001-2006 interval captures the revenue effects of South Boston's municipal reclassification; and the Alleghany County statistics covering FY2002-2006 reflect the fiscal impact of the Clifton Forge reversion.

3

The rank score of a given locality may vary from 1 (highest percentage) to 135 (lowest percentage).

4

The highest and lowest percentages in the statewide distribution are ranked 1 and 134, respectively.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

The rank score of a given locality varies from 1 (highest percentage) to 136 (lowest percentage) only if tied computations do not appear at the bottom of the measurement range.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

South Boston City reverted to town status on July 1, 1995. Accordingly, with respect to the FY1996-2000 time span, the Halifax County profile captures the revenue effects of South Boston's municipal reclassification.

3

The rank score of a given locality varies from 1 (highest percentage) to 136 (lowest percentage) only if tied computations do not appear at the bottom of the measurement range.

4

The highest and lowest percentages in the statewide distribution will carry rankings of 1 and 135, respectively, unless tied statistics are clustered at the base of the computational scale.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

South Boston City and Clifton Forge City reverted to town status on July 1st of 1995 and 2001, respectively. Therefore, the Halifax County profile relative to the FY2001-2006 interval captures the revenue effects of South Boston's municipal reclassification; and the Alleghany County statistics covering FY2002-2006 reflect the fiscal impact of the Clifton Forge reversion.

3

The rank score of a given locality varies from 1 (highest percentage) to 135 (lowest percentage) only if tied computations do not appear at the bottom of the measurement range.

4

The highest and lowest percentages in the statewide distribution will carry rankings of 1 and 134, respectively, unless tied statistics are clustered at the base of the computational scale.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

The rank score of a given locality varies from 1 (highest percentage) to 136 (lowest percentage) only if tied computations do not appear at the bottom of the measurement range.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

South Boston City reverted to town status on July 1, 1995. Accordingly, with respect to the FY1996-2000 time span, the Halifax County profile captures the revenue effects of South Boston's municipal reclassification.

3

The rank score of a given locality varies from 1 (highest percentage) to 136 (lowest percentage) only if tied computations do not appear at the bottom of the measurement range.

4

The highest and lowest percentages in the statewide distribution will carry rankings of 1 and 135, respectively, unless tied statistics are clustered at the base of the computational scale.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

South Boston City and Clifton Forge City reverted to town status on July 1st of 1995 and 2001, respectively. Therefore, the Halifax County profile relative to the FY2001-2006 interval captures the revenue effects of South Boston's municipal reclassification; and the Alleghany County statistics covering FY2002-2006 reflect the fiscal impact of the Clifton Forge reversion.

3

The rank score of a given locality varies from 1 (highest percentage) to 135 (lowest percentage) only if tied computations do not appear at the bottom of the measurement range.

4

The highest and lowest percentages in the statewide distribution will carry rankings of 1 and 134, respectively, unless tied statistics are clustered at the base of the computational scale.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

The rank score of a given locality varies from 1 (highest percentage) to 136 (lowest percentage) only if tied computations do not appear at the bottom of the measurement range.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

South Boston City reverted to town status on July 1, 1995. Accordingly, with respect to the FY1996-2000 time span, the Halifax County profile captures the revenue effects of South Boston's municipal reclassification.

3

The rank score of a given locality varies from 1 (highest percentage) to 136 (lowest percentage) only if tied computations do not appear at the bottom of the measurement range.

4

The highest and lowest percentages in the statewide distribution will carry rankings of 1 and 135, respectively, unless tied statistics are clustered at the base of the computational scale.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

South Boston City and Clifton Forge City reverted to town status on July 1st of 1995 and 2001, respectively. Therefore, the Halifax County profile relative to the FY2001-2006 interval captures the revenue effects of South Boston's municipal reclassification; and the Alleghany County statistics covering FY2002-2006 reflect the fiscal impact of the Clifton Forge reversion.

3

The rank score of a given locality varies from 1 (highest percentage) to 135 (lowest percentage) only if tied computations do not appear at the bottom of the measurement range.

4

The highest and lowest percentages in the statewide distribution will carry rankings of 1 and 134, respectively, unless tied statistics are clustered at the base of the computational scale.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

The rank score of a given locality may vary from 1 (highest percentage) to 136 (lowest percentage).

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

South Boston City reverted to town status on July 1, 1995. Accordingly, with respect to the FY1996-2000 time span, the Halifax County profile captures the revenue effects of South Boston's municipal reclassification.

3

The rank score of a given locality may vary from 1 (highest percentage) to 136 (lowest percentage).

4

The highest and lowest percentages in the statewide distribution are ranked 1 and 135, respectively.

1

As measured by the Commission, "own-source" revenue excludes payments in lieu of taxes by enterprise activities, certain compensatory collections generated through the settlement of city-county annexation issues, and funds transferred across community lines under the terms of revenue-sharing agreements.

2

South Boston City and Clifton Forge City reverted to town status on July 1st of 1995 and 2001, respectively. Therefore, the Halifax County profile relative to the FY2001-2006 interval captures the revenue effects of South Boston's municipal reclassification; and the Alleghany County statistics covering FY2002-2006 reflect the fiscal impact of the Clifton Forge reversion.

3

The rank score of a given locality may vary from 1 (highest percentage) to 135 (lowest percentage).

4

The highest and lowest percentages in the statewide distribution are ranked 1 and 134, respectively.
